

Warriors come in many forms.

Every member of our Army team—Soldiers, civilians, and contractors—is a critical part of our combat power. The loss of even one member of the Army team affects our total readiness.

That's why you need to think smart and Own the Edge. Practice Composite Risk Management, or CRM. It enables you to make better-informed risk decisions no matter what your role in the fight.

Our Warriors aren't only found on the battlefield. They're anywhere and everywhere an Army mission lives. So stay sharp and apply CRM in everything you do.

We can't win the fight without you.
